An Academy Award-nominated actor and a renowned human rights activist team up to change the tragic course of history in the Sudan -- with readers' help. While Don Cheadle was filming Hotel Rwanda, a new crisis had already erupted in Darfur, in nearby Sudan. In September 2004, then-Secretary of State Colin Powell termed the atrocities being committed there "genocide" -- and yet two years later things have only gotten worse. 3.5 million Sudanese are going hungry, 2.5 million have been displaced by violence, and 400,000 have died in Darfur to date. Both shocked and energized by this ongoing tragedy, Cheadle teamed up with leading activist John Prendergast to focus the world's attention. Not on Our Watch, their empowering book, offers six strategies readers themselves can implement: Raise Awareness, Raise Funds, Write a Letter, Call for Divestment, Start an Organization, and Lobby the Government. Each of these small actions can make a huge difference in the fate of a nation, and a people--not only in Darfur, but in other crisis zones such as Somalia, Congo, and northern Uganda.

In 1989, industrial aquaculture moved into British Columbia, chasing away the whales Alexandra Morton had dedicated her life to studying. Her fisherman neighbours asked her if she would write letters on their behalf to government explaining the damage the farms were doing to the fisheries, and one thing led to another. Soon Alex had shifted her scientific focus to documenting the infectious diseases and parasites that pour from the ocean farm pens of Atlantic salmon into the migration routes of wild Pacific salmon, and then to proving their disastrous impact on wild salmon and the entire ecosystem of the coast. Alex stood against the farms, first representing her community, then alone, and at last as part of an uprising that built around her as ancient Indigenous governance resisted a province and a country that wouldn't obey their own court rulings.

Presents a call to action on behalf of the genocide victims of Sudan's Darfur, describing the brutalities taking place there and outlining six strategies for making key differences.

The Activist Mommy, a social media sensation with over 70 million video views, leads the way for today's Christians in the culture war. News headlines point to a world that has gone stark-raving mad. Right is wrong and wrong is right. Religious liberty is under attack. Gender identity and fluidity is not only accepted but encouraged. Same-sex marriage is embraced by some churches. Deviant sexual practices are taught in schools. Hundreds of thousands of babies are aborted annually. "No more!" cries Elizabeth Johnston (aka The Activist Mommy), who has made Christian activism a calling for her life and her family. In Not on My Watch, Johnston courageously defends the timeless truths of God's Word and inspires and encourages other Christians to unite in winning this war for our children, our morals, our freedom, and our culture.

The purpose of this book is twofold: to supply the reader with a basic knowledge about wine, and to develop the expertise necessary to successfully match wine with food. It is a book of concepts, not a long list of wine-food pairings. The concepts are simple, logical, and easy to understand. After reading this book, the pleasure you derive in pairing wine with food will be greatly enhanced by your newly acquired knowledge of the culinary arts. " This book is extremely readable. I especially like the organization, which makes it a great educational tool for wine novices as well as connoisseurs." David Rosengarten, author of Red Wine with Fish "John Fischer has redefined the concept of matching wine and food. Scientific, though easy to understand, this book is a must-read for wine aficionados and professionals." José R. Garrigó, Chairman of the International Wine and Food Society Board of Governors of the Americas "This is an outstanding book that gives a simple and logical approach to match wine to food. It is easy to understand and enjoyable to read. We have thoroughly enjoyed using it at the Institute for the Culinary Arts, and have received many compliments from students." James E. Trebbien, Academic Director, Institute for the Culinary Arts, Omaha Nebraska "The book is very well organized, clearly written, light without being lightweight, and enlightening without being self-important. Mike Scott, winema

Walt Johnson has been a rolling stone most of his life, moving from town to town and living on the edges of homelessness. Now he has run out of time as lung cancer has left him only months to live. Walt then begins a quest to find the son with whom he lost contact decades earlier. Out of money, he lands a job at a small-town restaurant in an attempt to save enough to buy a bus ticket to the last known whereabouts of his son. The friends Walt makes at his new job soon become family for him, especially 14-year-old Danny who is emotionally paralyzed at the loss of his own father in Iraq. Faced with Danny's struggles to grow up and the struggles of his other new friends, Walt comes to realize he is not only on a journey to find his own son, but he is on a journey to find himself worthy of being a father.

Do you have classmates? Roommates? Friends? Have you ever seen something happening, maybe even to a stranger, and felt that someone, perhaps you, should step in and help? Well there's a new Sheriff in town! In this book you will find real world examples of strategies and skills to protect yourself and those around you from sexual assault and creepy comments. You have the power to create a community strong enough to stop a culture of violence in its tracks.

Domestic Violence.... NOT ON MY WATCH Domestic abuse leads to more than 30,000 deaths each year in the United States. That's over 82 people per day - which includes women, children, and men. Twenty percent (approximately 6,000) of these deaths are innocent bystanders. It has been reported that this number is a far stretch from the total number of soldiers killed in the war on Afghanistan. The reality: we are losing more people to senseless deaths right here on our own soil, than we lose in a war to protect it. Domestic Violence is increasingly plaguing our communities. The news reports of fatalities from domestic violence are continuing to air on the nightly news. Funerals and memorials are still being planned each day. Candlelight vigils are still being held around the world. Lobbyists are feverishly working across the nation to move the needle forward towards the goal of eradicating domestic violence. We all must do our part. #SEESOMETHINGSAYSOMETHINGDomestic Violence...NOT ON MY WATCH, is a call for all community members to take a seat at the table and learn how each of our roles are interdependent in the goal of saving lives. In this book, you will hear the voice of: "Survivors"An Awakened Abuser"Family, Friends, & Community of the Abused "Parents of the Abused"Attorneys "Doctors"Pastors The rising number of fatalities make it clear that it's time we turn up the heat on this issue. We can no longer afford to be fragmented as a nation--focusing solely on our local communities. It's time we all take a strategic global approach to ending domestic violence. Through convergence and collaborating on our interests, we can create the platform for transparency in our efforts. That transparency will drive us to sustainable change. The town hall is scheduled. We have saved a seat just for you. After reading Domestic Violence...NOT ON MY WATCH, you will be ignited to act.
